Objective: Frontend Developer

Four years in footwear manufacturing made me understand that although automation techniques are already commonly implemented on the factory floor, there are still many repetitive, everyday tasks in office work that remain to be optimized. Therefore I have decided to learn software development to be able to automate day-to-day tasks and save time and money, both for my clients and for myself.

I have recently graduated from a three-month bootcamp organized by 5xRuby, a Taiwan-based software development company specializing in Ruby on Rails. During the course, I have learned the basics of HTML, CSS, Bootstrap, Ruby on Rails, JavaScript and Git version control, also self-learned PostgreSQL, ReactJS.
